

NUBAR HOVSEPIAN

Nubar Hovsepian joined the Chapman University faculty in 2004 as Associate Professor of Political Science and International Studies. He completed his Ph.D. at the Graduate Center of the City University of New York. Before moving to Chapman, he was the Associate Director of the Middle East Center at the University of Pennsylvania. He specializes in comparative politics and international relations, with research and teaching interests in Middle East politics, state formation and educational institutions, democratic processes, nationalism and social movements, and the Palestinian-Israeli conflict.

Monday, October 18th, 2010

3:00 PM

Social Sciences & Media Studies Building
2nd Floor Conference Room, 2135

EDWARD SAID'S PALESTINE/ISRAEL INCLUSION WITHOUT DOMINATION

The talk will situate the scholarly position of Edward Said (found in The World, The Text, and the Critic, for example) within the context of his humanist and worldly concerns. Professor Hovsepian is currently completing a book about Edward Said.